Site is compatible with multiple platforms (20)	We addressed this issue through implementing Bootstrap's media queries for many of the media elements that we found issues with. For those specific elements that remain too large on mobile devices, we changed the sizes of that element to fit on the mobile device. For example, on phones, the introduction animation was too large, so we made the book smaller on mobile devices only. We also used media queries to make sure that our navigation bar turned black and the navigation bar's links are collapsed on mobile devices. We also used Bootstrap's grid system of rows and columns to align content depending on the device.
Website elements are consistent across all pages (20)	At first we found out was that there was no parallax scrolling on other pages besides the home page, so we added parallax scrolling on other pages as well for consistency throughout our website. We also made sure that the banner, navigation bar, and the footer were the same on every single page of the website.
